

Our first experience with public schools happened after our children graduated from a small parochial school. Transitioning from very small classes to East High was a tremendous change -- one that was made easier by the wonderful teachers and staff at East.

During those first few weeks of her freshman year, Megan met Mr. Whitmire. She tried out for the school play and was chosen for a part. From that moment on Mr. Whitmire became a mentor and role model. He encouraged her, treated her with respect and opened up a whole new world for her.

Participating in East's plays and musicals has been the highlight of Megan's high school career. If it weren't for Mr. Whitmire that outlet wouldn't have been there for her.

TEACHERS MAKE A DIFFERENCE!

This year, as a senior, Megan has Mr. Whitmire as an English teacher for the first time. He has introduced her to English literature and Myths, Legends, and Folklore.

Mr. Whitmire is a devoted and knowledgeable teacher. His patience with teenagers is remarkable. He's interested in getting to know all of his students. I can honestly say Mr. Whitmire has made a difference in Megan's life. She has the desire to become a high school teacher herself. I know she has learned many of the skills she will need to be a teacher from Mr. Del Whitmire.
